HOW WE TEST: We calculate the Overall Score primarily by evaluating a mattress's side and back support, durability, and stabilization. For adjustable air mattresses, we use an average of firmness levels. Support for side sleepers is the ability to keep a side sleeper's spine relatively horizontal.

Support for back sleepers is the ability to maintain the natural curve of the back sleeper's spine. In our support tests, we use a woman 4 feet, 11½ inches to 5 feet, 7½ inches tall and 110 to 127.5 pounds for the Pressure sleeper scores, and a man 6 feet, 2 inches to 6 feet, 4 inches tall and 220 to 242 pounds for the Large/tall sleeper scores. The Average sleeper is an average of these two sizes. Durability gauges a mattress's ability to keep its original shape, height, firmness, and support after a simulated eight to 10 years of use, including our passing a nearly 350-pound roller over each mattress 30,000 times. A high score for Stabilization indicates little or no bouncing or vibration transferred for in-mattress, and ease of movement and changing positions for foam. We rate Firmness on a scale of 1 to 10, with 10 being the firmest. Price is approximate retail for a queen-size mattress without a box spring.

Type: Indicates the main composition of the mattress, such as innerspring or memory foam. Some so-called "hybrid" innersprings include one or more levels of foam on top.
Dimensions: The mattress's dimensions, length by width by height, in inches.
Latex Foam: An alternative to memory foam.
Gel-infused foam: A layer of foam infused with gel, which is claimed to make you feel cooler in bed, especially with memory foam.
Resists bounceback: Indicates whether the mattress can absorb impacts, minimizing the bounce you might encounter while changing sleep position.
Eases movement: Indicates whether the mattress has enough resilience to allow easy changes in sleep position.
Grips: Helpful when handling the mattress.
Retains warmth: Some mattresses on more innerspring models and trap body heat, making you feel warmer.

Consumer reports best mattress for couples.

saatva We test and vet every mattress featured in our reviews to provide the most accurate, trusted recommendations. We mostly recently updated this page in July 2022 to make sure all of our recommendations were in stock and reflected accurate pricing. We also added resources at the end of this article to help you find the best mattress for your specific needs. Picking out the perfect mattress is easier said than done. Beds are so expensive — yet so important for getting a good night's rest — but the good news is that researching mattresses before you buy can help you make the right choice. With so many brands and models to choose from, it's crucial find one that meets your budget and personal preferences, while having the ability to remain comfortable, supportive and durable for years to come. The Good Housekeeping Institute Textiles Lab reviews mattresses of all kinds, from traditional innerspring and hybrid mattresses to memory foam mattresses, latex mattresses and mattress-in-a-box styles that you buy online. We also evaluate mattresses for specific needs and interests, like cooling mattresses, organic mattresses, affordable mattresses, mattresses for side sleepers, mattresses for adjustable beds and more, whittling down the options to the best-performing ones to make shopping easier for you. In addition to extensively researching the top mattress brands and materials and features, we have our in-house product testing experts as well as a diverse panel of consumer testers try out mattresses at home to evaluate how they perform for different types of sleepers. We also survey our exclusive consumer panel to get in-depth reviews from a broad range of real users. In recent years, we've surveyed more than 10,000 mattress owners and reviewed answers to more than 170,000 questions to help us pick the best mattresses you can buy. The responses from our panel include both quantitative scores and qualitative feedback, looking at all aspects from ease of ordering and set up, to comfort and support, to how well the mattresses have held up over time. We recently updated this page based on testing for Good Housekeeping's 2022 Best Bedding Awards and have added new models, including the Bear Elite Hybrid as our most comfortable mattress, the Helix Dusk Luxe as our best mattress for couples and the Puffy Lux Hybrid as our best soft mattress. The Saatva Classic Mattress remains our best overall pick. You can find more information about how we review mattresses and tips on how to choose the perfect bed for your budget and needs at the bottom of this article, but first, here is our expert guide to the best mattresses to buy in 2022: Is Labor Day a good time to buy a mattress? Yes! Mattress prices fluctuate throughout the year, but a holiday weekend — like Labor Day — is an ideal time to shop because you'll find the most competitive offers across brands. Read on for more details about the best mattresses (with prices listed in queen sizes), plus feedback from consumer testers and the experts in our Good Housekeeping Institute Textiles Lab. And while you're shopping for a new bed, check out our top-tested picks for sheets, pillows and comforters. Best Overall Mattress Saatva Classic Mattress Height: 11.5" or 14.5" Firmness levels: Plush Soft, Luxury Firm, FirmSizes: Twin, Twin XL, Full, Queen, King, California King Trial period: 360 days (with a $99 return pickup fee) Saatva earns our top spot because it uses high-quality materials that receive excellent ratings from our consumer panel, especially from those who have owned the bed for more than five years. Unlike popular boxed mattresses that you typically see online, this one's like the traditional innerspring mattresses you find in stores, but with a direct-to-consumer platform to help keep it at a competitive price. You also get other shopping perks, like free delivery and set up, old mattress removal and a year-long trial period to make sure you love it. It comes in three firmness levels, with "Luxury Firm" being the most popular. What it's made of: A quilted pillowtop to create a plush surface, a layer of high density foam for support and pressure relief, individual steel coils that respond to your movements and offer breathability, a base steel coil system to prevent sagging and create more airflow and firm foam around the edges so the mattress doesn't sink when you climb in and out of bed. Tester notes: It's highly-rated by more than 100 reviewers on our testing panel, with top marks for comfort, support and overall sleep quality. It also earned glowing feedback on its customer service, from ease of ordering and in-home set up to quick fixes if any issues came up throughout the process. Users also highlight how it sleeps cooler, feels firmer and has better edge support than memory foam mattresses. Some even called it the "best mattress ever" and said it led to the "best sleep I've ever had." One described it as "firm, but not hard" while another said it's "comfortable and just the right amount of plush." Other Saatva mattresses: While the Classic Mattress is Saatva's bestseller and the most popular model from our panel of reviewers, the brand carries a full range of innerspring, memory foam, latex and adjustable options. You can compare the various models on their website and even take a quiz to help decide which model is right for you. Pro Tips: Don't second guess your firmness preference. Several users told us they were tempted by Luxury Firm because it's so popular, but wished they had gone with Plush or Firm from the start. Also keep in mind: We've seen Saatva prices steadily increase over the past few years, so its cost may continue to rise in the coming months. Best Value Mattress Allswell Luxe Hybrid Height: 12" Firmness level: MediumSizes: Twin, Twin XL, Full, Queen, King, California King Trial period: 90 days Buying an affordable mattress doesn't mean it has to be cheap. This is one of the best of others, but it still has excellent features and exceptionally high ratings from our testers to make it stand out. And while mattress prices have skyrocketed due to COVID-related supply chain issues, Allswell pricing has remained fairly low and consistent. It's a hybrid style with both memory foam and coils for a mix of comfort and support. Your purchase includes free shipping, and the mattress arrives in a box for you to set up on your own. What it's made of: A quilted top panel with plush foam, two inches of memory foam that's infused with cooling copper to prevent overheating, one inch of high density foam for support and individual coils that help you move and provide more airflow. Tester notes: The feedback from our survey respondents and testers was that it was absolutely worth the price, and some even said it got rid of neck and back pain. The most common complaint we got was that there was less edge support when getting in and out of bed. Still, users couldn't believe how expensive it felt. One described it to us by saying, "this mattress is supportive and plush, and it feels like a fancy hotel bed," while another raved, "It feels like sleeping on a real, plush hotel mattress, but at a fraction of the price." Other Allswell mattresses: If you're looking to spend even less, the brand has a lower-priced mattress that isn't as tall and doesn't have as much edge support, but was still rated as comfortable in our review. There's also a more expensive Supreme version (still under $1,000!) that has even more features like an extra layer at the top, more edge support and a layer of temperature-regulating foam. Allswell has also introduced The Brick (which is slightly firmer than the Luxe and The Cool (which has copper-infused foam and a cool-to-the-touch cover). Pro tip: This model's your best bet on a budget, especially for people in their 20s that are moving into their own homes for the first time. It received far better feedback than inexpensive bestsellers on Amazon. Best Mattress for Back Pain Nolah Evolution 15 $1,599 AT Comfortable Mattress COM Height: 14" Firmness level: Plus, Luxury Firm, FirmSizes: Twin, Twin XL, Full, Queen, King, California King Trial period: 120 nights Nolah received high marks from all types of sleepers, but those with back pain especially raved about its ability to alleviate their discomfort. The best type of mattress for back pain is one with a medium firmness for the ideal balance of soft and firm, and made with at least some layers of foam for pressure relief and cradling comfort. This hybrid from Nolah checks off those boxes and helps promote proper spine alignment. Because of these unique layers, this mattress is taller and heavier than others. It ships in a box so you may need help setting it up if you're concerned about the size and weight. If you prefer, you can have it set up for you for an extra $125. You can also opt to forego the trial period to save $100. What it's made of: A cover with a cool-to-the-touch feel on top, handles on the side and a non-skid bottom so the mattress doesn't shift. Inside there's a quilted topper, a two-inch "heat escape gusset" (a border that helps draw excess heat away from the mattress), another two-inch layer of foam for pressure relief and comfort infused with graphite to prevent overheating, two inches of resilience foam for support, one inch of high density foam for durability and to act as a transition layer, a supportive coil system with added edge support and a bottom layer of cotton and wool to increase stability. Tester notes: Our testers and survey respondents with back pain all swore it eased their aches and soreness. One back pain-sufferer told us, "I used to wake up with sciatic pain every morning, and it went away within the first week of using this mattress." Another user with pregnancy-related hip pain said the bed "saved" her and noted, "I was miserable and it helped me sleep really well." This brand isn't as well-known and has fewer consumer responses than others, but users on our panel consistently give it high scores for comfort, support and overall satisfaction. Other Nolah mattresses: The 15-inch Evolution hybrid is most popular, but there's also a 12-inch Signature and a 10-inch Original, which are both entirely foam on the inside. If you prefer latex over memory foam, the 11-inch Natural is a hybrid of latex and coils. Pro tip: It comes in three firmness levels, but we recommend Luxury Firm as the "medium" option for most people suffering from back pain. Most Comfortable Mattress COM Height: $1,478 AT BEARMATTRESS.COM Height: 14" Firmness level: Plus, Luxury Firm, FirmSizes: Twin, Twin XL, Full, Queen, King, California King Trial period: 120 days This model recently hit the market and has already turned into a lesser favorite. It's made with several layers of foam and coils, including foam with five zoned sections to promote alignment. Each section has varying firmness levels depending on where you need more pressure relief or more support. Though it's fairly new and we don't have long-term feedback as with other mattresses, our testers were immediately blown away by its comfort. What it's made of: A foam top layer infused with copper to prevent overheating, a zoned foam layer with contoured cutouts to target specific pressure points, a layer of individual coils for support, reinforced coils around the border for edge support and a bottom layer of high density foam for durability. Tester notes: Our reviewers gave it perfect scores across the board, saying "it is the most comfortable mattress we have ever slept on." After several months of testing, they say they have a better, more uninterrupted sleep than any other mattress they've tried before. One also noted, "This is undoubtedly the best mattress we have ever owned. We have traveled all over and have never had the sleep experience we now have every night." Other Bear mattresses: The Bear Elite Hybrid is the newest and the top-of-the-line model from Bear, but other options include the Bear Original (all foam), Bear Pro (all foam with more layers) and Bear Hybrid (with less layers than the Elite Hybrid). Pro tip: The brand makes some claims about using "eco-friendly materials" and natural minerals that promote recovery. We couldn't verify these claims in our research, but we still stand behind the mattress for its incredible comfort. Best Mattress for Couples Helix Dusk Luxe Height: 14" Firmness level: MediumSizes: Twin, Twin XL, Full, Queen, King, California King Trial period: 100 days The goldlocks of mattresses — i.e., not to hard yet not too soft — this medium firmness is ideal for combination sleepers that change positions or sleeping partners with different needs. It's a hybrid model with layers of foam over coils and has luxurious add-ons like a moisture-wicking cover, zoned sections for ergonomic support and a built-in pillowtop for added comfort. It ships in a box so you may need help setting it up if you're concerned about the size and weight. If you prefer, you can have it set up for you for an extra $125. You can also opt to forego the trial period to save $100. What it's made of: A cover with a cool-to-the-touch feel on top, handles on the side and a non-skid bottom so the mattress doesn't shift. Inside there's a quilted topper, a two-inch "heat escape gusset" (a border that helps draw excess heat away from the mattress), another two-inch layer of foam for pressure relief and comfort infused with graphite to prevent overheating, two inches of resilience foam for support, one inch of high density foam for durability and to act as a transition layer, a supportive coil system with added edge support and a bottom layer of cotton and wool to increase stability. Tester notes: Our testers and survey respondents with back pain all swore it eased their aches and soreness. One back pain-sufferer told us, "I used to wake up with sciatic pain every morning, and it went away within the first week of using this mattress." Another user with pregnancy-related hip pain said the bed "saved" her and noted, "I was miserable and it helped me sleep really well." This brand isn't as well-known and has fewer consumer responses than others, but users on our panel consistently give it high scores for comfort, support and overall satisfaction. Other Nolah mattresses: The 15-inch Evolution hybrid is most popular, but there's also a 12-inch Signature and a 10-inch Original, which are both entirely foam on the inside. If you prefer latex over memory foam, the 11-inch Natural is a hybrid of latex and coils. Pro tip: It comes in three firmness levels, but we recommend Luxury Firm as the "medium" option for most people suffering from back pain. Most Comfortable Mattress COM Height: $1,478 AT BEARMATTRESS.COM Height: 14" Firmness level: Plus, Luxury Firm, FirmSizes: Twin, Twin XL, Full, Queen, King, California King Trial period: 120 days This model recently hit the market and has already turned into a lesser favorite. It's made with several layers of foam and coils, including foam with five zoned sections to promote alignment. Each section has varying firmness levels depending on where you need more pressure relief or more support. Though it's fairly new and we don't have long-term feedback as with other mattresses, our testers were immediately blown away by its comfort. What it's made of: A foam top layer infused with copper to prevent overheating, a zoned foam layer with contoured cutouts to target specific pressure points, a layer of individual coils for support, reinforced coils around the border for edge support and a bottom layer of high density foam for durability. Tester notes: Our reviewers gave it perfect scores across the board, saying "it is the most comfortable mattress we have ever slept on." After several months of testing, they say they have a better, more uninterrupted sleep than any other mattress they've tried before. One also noted, "This is undoubtedly the best mattress we have ever owned. We have traveled all over and have never had the sleep experience we now have every night." Other Bear mattresses: The Bear Elite Hybrid is the newest and the top-of-the-line model from Bear, but other options include the Bear Original (all foam), Bear Pro (all foam with more layers) and Bear Hybrid (with less layers than the Elite Hybrid). Pro tip: The brand makes some claims about using "eco-friendly materials" and natural minerals that promote recovery. We couldn't verify these claims in our research, but we still stand behind the mattress for its incredible comfort. Best Mattress for Couples Helix Dusk Luxe Height: 14" Firmness level: MediumSizes: Twin, Twin XL, Full, Queen, King, California King Trial period: 100 days The goldlocks of mattresses — i.e., not to hard yet not too soft — this medium firmness is ideal for combination sleepers that change positions or sleeping partners with different needs.
